JANUARY 24, 1963

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

Whereas the Bay of Pigs invasion of Cuba in April of 1961 failed for the lack of adequate American assistance, including an air cover for the landing forces; and

Whereas the American public was led to understand for twenty-one months that an air cover had definitely been promised to the invading force and withheld at the last minute on orders from the President of the United States; and

Whereas the Attorney General of the United States has now stated that no such air support was ever contemplated in the invasion plan; and

Whereas the Attorney General of the United States has further stated that the invasion plan had the approval of the Joint Chiefs of Staff and the Central Intelligence Agency; and

Whereas an invasion plan which did not include air cover was foredoomed to failure in the minds of veteran military experts; and

Whereas the Attorney General's statements have consequently called into question the wisdom and efficiency of the Joint Chiefs of Staff and the Central Intelligence Agency; and

Whereas the Attorney General's account of what happened at the Bay of Pigs has left the American public in a state of confusion as to the true facts; and

Whereas the continued presence of Communist military forces and equipment in Cuba makes that island a persistent threat to the United States and the Western Hemisphere; and

Whereas a full disclosure of the invasion plans for the Bay of Pigs can no longer be considered a breach of military security: Now, therefore, be it

1       Resolved, by the House of Representatives (the Senate

3       and the House Subcommittee on Department of Defense Ap-

9       to determine the true facts surrounding the Bay of Pigs in-10       vasion with particular reference to the kind of American as-11       sistance promised to the invading force.

12       SEC. 2. The committee shall report its findings upon the 13       study and investigation authorized by this resolution to the

1 Senate at the earliest practicable date, but no later than

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

Whereas the Bay of Pigs invasion of Cuba in April of 1961 failed for lack of adequate American assistance, including an air cover for the landing forces; and

Whereas the American public was led to understand for twenty-one months that an air cover had definitely been promised to the invading force and withheld at the last minute on orders from the President of the United States; and

Whereas the Attorney General of the United States has now stated that no such air support was ever contemplated in the invasion plan; and

Whereas the Attorney General of the United States has further stated that the invasion plan had the approval of the Joint Chiefs of Staff and the Central Intelligence Agency; and

Whereas an invasion plan which did not include air cover was foredoomed to failure in the minds of veteran military experts; and

Whereas the Attorney General's statements have consequently called into question the wisdom and efficiency of the Joint Chiefs of Staff and the Central Intelligence Agency; and

Whereas the Attorney General's account of what happened at the Bay of Pigs has left the American public in a state of confusion as to the true facts; and

Whereas the continued presence of Communist military forces and equipment in Cuba makes that island a persistent threat to the United States and the Western Hemisphere; and

Whereas a full disclosure of the invasion plans for the Bay of Pigs can no longer be considered a breach of military security; and

Whereas the foreign intelligence activities of our Federal departments and agencies are intimately associated with the Bay of Pigs and subsequent developments in our Cuban policies: Now, therefore, be it

1       Resolved by the House of Representatives (the Senate
2       concurring), That there is hereby established a special joint 3       committee to conduct a full and complete study to determine 4       the true facts surrounding the Bay of Pigs invasion with 5       particular reference to the kind of United States assistance 6       promised to the invading force and to make an investigation 7       of the methods of operation of all United States intelligence-8       gathering departments and agencies in relation to foreign 9       intelligence activities of such agencies, including the collec-

1 tion, correlation, evaluation, and dissemination of foreign 2 intelligence relating to the national security and the protec-
3 tion of intelligence sources and methods from unauthorized 4 disclosure, with a view to recommending such changes as 5 may be necessary to implement more advantageously and 6 rapidly the response of the United States to world develop-7 ments, and to insure that the best interests of the United 8 States are being served in its struggle with communism.

9       SEC. 2. That the House Committee on Armed Services
10 and the House Subcommittee on Department of Defense
11 Appropriations and the Senate Committee on Armed Services
12 and the Senate Subcommittee on Department of Defense 13 Appropriations be each authorized to name four of their 14 members on a strictly bipartisan basis to membership on a 15 special joint committee to conduct such a study. Vacancies 16 in the membership of the joint committee shall not affect the 17 power of the remaining members to execute the functions 18 of the joint committee, and shall be filled in the same manner 19 as in the case of the original appointments. The joint com-20 mittee shall select a chairman and a vice chairman from 21 among its members and shall determine the number of 22 members necessary to constitute a quorum for the trans-23 action of business.

24       (b) The joint committee, or any duly authorized sub-25 committee thereof, is authorized to hold hearings, to sit

1 and act at such times and places, within or outside the United 2 States, to require by subpoena or otherwise, the attendance 3 of such witnesses and the production of such books, papers, 4 and documents, administer such oaths, to take such testi-5 mony, to procure such printing and binding, and to make 6 such expenditures, subject to section 3, as it deems advisable.
7 Subpenas may be issued under the signature of the chairman 8 of the joint committee or any member of the joint committee 9 designated by him, and may be served by any person desig-10 nated by such chairman or member.

11 (c) The committee shall report its findings upon the 12 study and investigation authorized by this resolution to their 13 respective Houses at the earliest practicable date, but no 14 later than December 31, 1963, together with such recom-
15 mendations as the committee deems advisable.

16 SEC. 3. Expenses of the joint committee shall be shared 17 by equal payments from the contingent funds of the House
18 and Senate on vouchers signed by the chairman thereof
19 and approved by the Committee on House Administration
20 and the Senate Committee on Rules and Administration.

IN THE SENATE OF THE UNITED STATES

FEBRUARY 6 (legislative day, JANUARY 15), 1963

Mr. BOGGS (for himself and Mr. DONN) introduced the following joint resolution; which was read twice and referred to the Committee on Armed Services

JOINT RESOLUTION

Providing for the establishment of a joint committee of the two Houses of the Congress to study all matters relating to national strategy.

Whereas the fundamental advances in human knowledge concerning the physical sciences made during and subsequent to World War II have produced a technological revolution of unprecedented scope and implications; and

Whereas that revolution has been responsible for the development of new and largely untested means and instrumentalities for destruction never before within the competence of man; and

Whereas the complexity of the resulting weapons systems has necessitated reliance upon personnel specially trained in new and advanced scientific disciplines, not only for the evolution, design, evaluation, and production of such weapons systems, but also for the determination of basic doctrine with respect to their strategic employment and their interrelationship for the establishment of an effective capability for national defense; and

Whereas the United States Government has come to an increasing degree to rely upon privately organized and operated organizations and instrumentalities for the solution of those problems; and

Whereas in consequence the development, design, and direction of our national strategy for survival has been increasingly influenced by institutions and instrumentalities outside the executive and legislative branches of the Government; and

Whereas such strategy is no longer determined by military and diplomatic considerations alone, but by complex economic, scientific, social, political, and psychological considerations as well, thereby increasing the difficulty of formulating a sound and effective strategy; and

Whereas under the present organization of the Congress various aspects of the problem of national strategy are committed to different committees within each House, with the result that, in the discharge of its vital function of formulating national policy, no means presently exist within the Congress for evaluating that problem in its entirety or for evolving a well-considered unified national strategic program; and

Whereas the Congress is ever cognizant that the free institutions of the United States and the preservation of world peace is dependent upon the development of a sound and effective national strategy, and that under our Constitution the ultimate responsibility and obligation therefor rests jointly with the Congress and the Executive; and

Whereas in order to meet its responsibility and obligation more effectively, the Congress should provide effective means for a continuous study of all the various and complex matters that affect and shape our national strategy: Now, therefore, be it

- 1       Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives
2       of the United States of America in Congress assembled,
3       That (a) there is established a Joint Committee on Na-4       tional Security Strategy (hereinafter referred to as the "joint 5       committee"). Such committee shall be composed of nine 6       Members of the Senate who shall be appointed by the Presi-
7       dent of the Senate and nine Members of the House of Repre-8       sentatives who shall be appointed by the Speaker of the 9       House of Representatives. In each instance not more than 10      five Members shall be members of the same political party.
- 11      (b) It shall be the function of the joint committee—12          (1) to make a comprehensive and continuing study 13          of all matters relating to the national strategy of the 14          United States;
- 15          (2) to study means and methods whereby the proc-
16          esses used for the development of our national strategy 17          may be improved in a manner consistent with the con-
18          stitutionally established structure of our Government, 19          and whereby the activities of governmental and nongov-20          ernmental instrumentalities used for the development and

1 implementation of that national strategy may be coor-
2 dinated with greater effectiveness in the national inter-3 est; and

4 (3) for the information of the several committees 5 of the Congress dealing with legislation which relates to 6 or affects the national strategy, not later than March 1 7 of each year (beginning with the year 1964) to file a re-8 port with the Senate and the House of Representatives 9 containing its findings and recommendations with re-10 spect to national strategy matters, and from time to time 11 to make other reports and recommendations to the 12 Senate and House of Representatives as it deems ad-13 visable.

14 SEC. 2. (a) Vacancies in the membership of the joint 15 committee shall not affect the power of the remaining mem-16 bers to execute the functions of the joint committee, and shall 17 be filled in the same manner as in the case of the original 18 selection.

19 (b) The joint committee shall select a chairman and a 20 vice chairman from among its members upon its initial 21 organization and at the beginning of each Congress. The 22 chairmanship shall alternate between the Senate and the 23 House of Representatives with each Congress. The vice 24 chairman shall act in the place of the chairman in the absence

1 of the chairman, and shall be selected from the House other 2 than the House from which the chairman is selected.

3 (c) A majority of the joint committee shall constitute 4 a quorum except that a lesser number, to be fixed by the 5 joint committee, shall constitute a quorum for the purpose of 6 administering oaths and taking sworn testimony.

7 SEC. 3. The joint committee, or any duly authorized sub-8 committee thereof, is authorized to sit and act at such places 9 and times within the United States, to hold such hearings, to 10 require by subpoena or otherwise the attendance of such wit-
11 nesses and the production of such books, papers, and docu-
12 ments, to administer such oaths, and to take such testimony 13 as it deems advisable.

14 SEC. 4. (a) The joint committee may employ and fix 15 the compensation of such experts, consultants, and other 16 employees as it deems necessary in the performance of its 17 duties.

18 (b) The joint committee is authorized to utilize the serv-
19 ices, information, and facilities of the departments and agen-
20 cies of the Government, and also of private research agencies.

21 SEC. 5. The expenses of the joint committee shall be paid 22 from the contingent fund of the Senate from funds appropri-23 ated for the joint committee upon vouchers approved by the 24 chairman of the joint committee.
